MESSAGE FROM

Your Conference Chair
Charles Durrett  The Cohousing Company

Earlier this year, I was completely drawn into this terribly boring story about Kathy Warren, a senior woman caring for her elderly father. This story touches on the very challenges that we face today in our fast-paced, self-consumed lives – isolation and lack of community. Please watch it here. Today there are over 77 million baby boomers in the U.S. and by the year 2030, this demographic will be 20% of the population. At this rate, more than 10,000 baby boomers will turn 65 every day for the next 18 years. Preparing for this shift offers both challenges and opportunities. We can text our sister in Paris to find out what she’s having for lunch, but we don’t know the names of the seniors on our street, much less be able to depend on them and they on us. There is simply too much humanity left on the table.

Twenty-five years ago my wife, Katie, and I started the first cohousing community in the United States – Muir Commons in Davis, CA. We developed a system for creating successful communities and our firm, MDA, has gone onto helping over 50 more communities get designed and built, and many more get started. We’ve grown into two companies, The Cohousing Company and Cohousing Solutions, broadening our reach and our ability to facilitate cohousing communities from a variety of angles. It all started with one question: if it doesn’t work socially, why bother? That’s where the senior cohousing model works.

Senior Cohousing has proven to be a way to empower older adults to self-organize into high-functioning communities of support. In addition to being innovative and cost effective, cohousing provides an inherent sense of community reminiscent of a small village, where everyone knows and cares for each other. Pedestrian paths replace the need for driving. Houses tailored for seniors create easy transitions throughout each individual home and phase of life (the average senior moves five times in their last seven years of life – a time when they should be living their life without that kind of stress). Most importantly, each individual in the community has a voice. Decisions in cohousing are made democratically and are facilitated by community members themselves. People know, care and support each other. Folks grow older, live life and wane with honor and decorum.

The Aging Better Together conference in May is going to be an amazing weave of inspiring, thought provoking conversations, driven mostly by the folks who have successfully accomplished high-functioning senior villages for themselves to grow older in. Folks who look forward to a gratifying elder-hood because they made it happen for themselves in the only way possible – with others. And in doing so, they are models for others to be inspired by. Come meet these change makers. Hear their stories and realize that, if they can do it, you can do it too.

I look forward to seeing you there.

Thanks, Chuck

Mission:
A new model for Aging-In-Place.
Vibrant supportive communities that celebrate the natural aging process and living life to its fullest.

MESSAGE FROM Your Conference Vice-Chair & Co-Host Cindy Turnquist SageHill Cohousing

Welcome,

Like many other baby boomers, the experience of caring for elder parents had a profound effect on my vision of aging in America. Although, my work had been focused on improving the lives of seniors through the use of technology and options for aging in place, the realities of aging in place didn’t hit me until I became a full time caregiver.

This experience created a new and powerful purpose for me. There had to be a better way! Research has shown that the highest quality of life can be found in a community of peers who care about each other’s wellbeing. So I began my search for models for aging in community and... here I am today; joining others who are committed to building senior-friendly cohousing communities in the U.S. I founded SageHill Cohousing Partners in 2014 to make senior-friendly cohousing communities a benchmark for aging in Utah and the Intermountain Region.

I can’t tell you how many times when introducing the concept of senior cohousing people light up and say, “My friends and I have always said that someday we want to live near and grow old together.” When I ask what is holding them back they reply, “It’s a dream of ours but we don’t know how to wrap our arms around it; to make it a reality.” This motivated me to create the Aging Better Together Conference in partnership with Coho/US.

Join us at the conference to learn how to make aging in a community, surrounded by others committed to knowing and caring about each other, a reality for YOU.

My vision is to create 10 senior cohousing communities in the next 10 years in the Intermountain Region. Please come find me at the conference, I would love to share information on local groups coming together with diverse visions and focus.

I look forward to meeting you in May,

Warm regards, Cindy

MESSAGE FROM
Coho/US & Your Co-Host
Alice Alexander  Executive Director, Coho/US

Welcome,

“There are a lot of boomers who do not go happy into this night,” says an aspiring cohouser. “You don’t want us in your institutions, really. We are not going to be docile.” As a baby boomer myself, I quite agree! This sentiment is part of what is driving the avid interest in senior-friendly cohousing, and that interest is why Coho/US rose to the challenge of creating this conference.

Towards fueling a nationwide development of senior-friendly cohousing, we ask:

How are today’s Boomers taking charge of their next chapter, reinventing aging through a community framework? How can cohousing empower the coming wave of retiring seniors to age successfully and have fun in the process?

Towards sparking conversations on aging within traditional multi-generational communities as well as senior cohousing, we ask:

How will your community approach what is a delicate topic: defining what community support members can count on as they approach end of life and want to remain in the community as long as possible?

There are no quick answers here. This conference provides a wide range of approaches and best practices from a wealth of cohousers and professionals, but always with an emphasis on learning from each other. Be prepared to be inspired, but also be prepared to be daunted. If it was easy, we would already have this figured out!

Coho/US serves as a connector and clearinghouse; as an association we do not aspire to be the experts, nor can we afford that role. We are therefore fortunate to be co-producing this conference with Cindy Turnquist and SageHill Cohousing Partners. Cindy brings significant knowledge on aging issues, and a passion for cohousing as part of the answer to supporting healthy, vibrant aging.

This conference is made possible through sponsorship support from many of our Cohousing Professionals and Cohousing Communities. Take a look at what they have to offer you!

Learn, share and enjoy,
Alice Alexander, Coho/US Executive Director
Community has to be the future if we are to survive. Communities play such a critical role in moving this bit of necessary culture change along.”

* Breakout Guide on next page
Breakout sessions are organized into two tracks with four topics per track. These sessions are designed to be interactive and provide practical insights into the issues you are most passionate about.

S Track – “Let’s Get Started” is where you will learn how to get started, meet the people who can help make it happen, and discover best practices from others who have already made the journey.

A Track – “Aging In Community” addresses the social side of cohousing and will help you prepare your community to enable older, less mobile members to continue to live in community with you. This track is equally important for existing and newly forming communities.

You have the opportunity to attend four (4) breakout sessions over the course of two days.

Sign up for (1) session from each column - A, B, C, & D (Click on the session links for details)

Successful aging is as much about purposeful living and caring about the wellbeing of others as it is about beautiful architecture, universal design and sustainability.

Keynote Sessions

Charles Durrett, Conference Chair
Charles (Chuck) Durrett, Architect & Principle at The Cohousing Company/Mccamant & Durrett Architects, is best known as the father of cohousing in the U.S. He and his wife Katie McCamant coined the word “cohousing” for which they are credited in the Oxford English Dictionary. Charles recently authored, Senior Cohousing: A Community Approach to Independent Living-The Handbook. His work has been featured in Time Magazine, The New York Times, The Los Angeles Times, The San Francisco Chronicle, Architecture, and a wide variety of other publications. Chuck is leading a culture change in America!

Richard Leider – The Power of Purpose
Richard Leider, founder of Inventure – The Purpose Company, is one of America’s preeminent executive-life coaches. He is ranked by Forbes as one of the “Top 5” most respected executive coaches, and by the Conference Board as a “legend in coaching.” As co-author of Life Reimagined, he is the Chief Curator of content for AARP’s Life Reimagined Institute. Widely viewed as a visionary and thought leader on the “power of purpose”, his work is featured regularly in many media sources, including PBS public television, and NPR public radio. He is featured in the PBS Special – The Power of Purpose. Richard holds a Master’s Degree in Counseling and is a National Certified Counselor (NCC), a National Certified Career Counselor (NCCC), and a National Certified Master Career Counselor (MCC).

Ron Pevny – The Power of Conscious Aging
Ron Pevny, M.A., has for forty years been dedicated to assisting people in negotiating life transitions as they create lives of purpose and passion. He is Founding Director of the Center for Conscious Eldering, based in Durango, Colorado. He is also a Certified Sage-ing® Leader and was the creator and administrator of the twelve-organization Conscious Aging Alliance. He is author of “Conscious Living, Conscious Aging: embrace and savor your next chapter,” published in 2014 by Beyond Words/Atria Books. Ron has presented many week-long Choosing Conscious Elderhood retreats at Ghost Ranch and other retreat centers around North America over the past fifteen years, as well as numerous introductory weekend workshops.

THE WHISTLE STOP F.I.L.M FESTIVAL

The Whistle Stop F.I.L.M Festival put together a film program around the topic of aging for the Aging Better Together Conference. The screening is sponsored in part by, Wonderland Hills Development, The Little Yoga Studio, and Boulder Community Media. The Screening will be held in the vintage Post Theatre build in 1932 on Fort Douglas.

Here is the screening schedule:

Thursday May 19th; 7pm

“Aging Gratefully: The Power of Community”
(TRT: 51 minutes) Directed by Alan O’Hashi
Produced by Boulder Community Media (BCM)
Members of Silver Sage Village will be on hand for a Q&A after the film.

Short Synopsis: What if 25 seniors from around the country decided to age together in a cohousing community. Filmmaker and Silver Sage Village resident Alan O’Hashi recounts his recovery from a serious illness and weaves those experiences with the perspectives of neighbors with Parkinson’s Disease, Alzheimer’s Disease and those who find themselves in supportive neighborly care giving roles. The film features the perspectives of cohousing pioneers Jim Leach and Chuck Durrett as well as gerontologist Anne Glass.

Friday May 20th; 7pm

“Bullet Proof Karma”
(TRT: 9 minutes) Directed by Halonah Abraham Paiss
Produced by Paiss Productions

Short Synopsis: Halonah is 17 years old and a senior in Boulder, CO where she lives in the Nomad Cohousing neighborhood. In making “Bulletproof Karma,” she tells a true story about Barry Shoda, a man diagnosed with an aggressive cancer and a deadly brain tumor. This documentary provides hope that people with cancer can have an effective alternative to chemotherapy and radiation treatments.

“Taken”
(TRT: 5 minutes) Directed by Don Sniffin
Produced by KBZ Films

Short Synopsis: Don is an award-winning screenwriter and filmmaker with an innate ability to tell a compelling and unique story. He studied at the Colorado Film School, is a graduate of the Lighthouse Writer’s Master Screenplay program, and Don has a B.S. in Computer Science from the University of Wyoming. In “Taken”, no good deed goes unpunished. An ordinary Joe in an extraordinary circumstance must find his inner courage and come to the rescue of someone who has been “Taken”.

“A Beautiful Equation”
(TRT: 53 minutes) Directed by Robin Truesdale
Produced by Two Hands Films
There may be a Q and A following the film with Robin Truesdale and Len Barron.

Short Synopsis: Len Barron selects an unconventional cast - eight grandmothers - for his stage production about Albert Einstein and Niels Bohr. On stage, the women charm audiences with their wit and exuberance as they reveal untold chapters in the scientists’ biographies. In this documentary film, director Robin Truesdale takes us behind the scenes with the women (who are not professional actors) as they rehearse, laugh, and beautifully emulate the messages they present on stage. The film leads us through a storybook of past and present, illuminating the magic of fairy tales and belief in the impossible.

Staying at the Guest House provides opportunities for informal, spontaneous interactions with fellow conference-mates, presenters and sponsors. University Guest House & Conference Center is located on Salt Lake’s east bench amidst the pristine beauty of Historic Fort Douglas. This unique venue was the official 2001 Olympic Village and will allow us to create a Cohousing Village of our own for the weekend. It provides 180 guest rooms with 30,000 square feet of creative meeting spaces.

We encourage conference participants to stay at The Guest House - the center of all conference activities. It provides additional opportunities for networking with conference attendees; and makes it easy to return to your room when you need a little private space.

As only a limited number of rooms are available, it is advisable to book as soon as possible. Unreserved rooms will be released for general sale at a higher prices after Wednesday, April 20, 2016.

TRANSPORTATION

Airport
The Salt Lake City Airport is the only commercial airport on the Wasatch Front and is one of the busiest and most efficient airports in the nation. It ranks first in the U.S. as far as on-time departures and arrivals – and fewest flight cancellations. It is approximately 20 minutes from the University of Utah.

UTA TRAX
UTA TRAX is Salt Lake Valley’s light rail system. To reach the Guest House from the Airport, take the Green Line (this is the line ending at the Airport), to Court House station (24 minutes). Then transfer to the Red line (direction University or Medical Center) from the Court House station to Fort Douglas (17 minutes). Be careful, at the courthouse station you have to enter the train on the other side of the platform, you are going back half a block before turning East.

From the Fort Douglas station it is an easy walk:
You will need to cross the street via the Legacy Bridge. Take the stairs or elevator to the bridge. After crossing the bridge, the Guest House is the first building complex to your left (northeast of the bridge). This is 8-10 walking minutes or less.

You may also call the Guest House front desk 801 587 1000, they will be happy to send a shuttle to pick you up at the Fort Douglas Trax Station, if the shuttle is available (the shuttle is first come first served).

For a detailed map visit the UTA TRAX website.
The one way fare to and from the airport is $2.50.

Taxi and Shuttle Services
Taxi and shuttle services are available at the Ground Transportation desk at either terminal.
You may also contact these services with questions:

A COHOUSING-FRIENDLY SOCIETY

Coho/US is a national non-profit organization dedicated to the support and development of cohousing.

Coho/US works to raise broad awareness of the benefits of cohousing and to actively support the development and spread of cohousing communities nationwide.

To ensure we have sufficient financial resources to foster a cohousing-friendly society we need your support.

Why Support Coho/US?

• You want to inspire the growth of cohousing
• You believe cohousing is an innovative answer to environmental and social challenges
• You appreciate Coho/US as a connector to resources and conferences
