We want happiness
We want community
We want affordability
We want to be sustainable
And most of all... we want to stay in control

Research has shown that the highest quality of life can be found in a community of peers who care about each other’s well-being. So it should come as no surprise that people are embracing cohousing as a tool for maintaining their independence, building community, living light on the planet, and caring about each other as they age. Join us! Come meet the change makers, hear their stories and realize that, if they can do it, you can do it too!
